INCINERATED.

An Insane Asylum Wrapped in Flames
Amidst Scenes of the Wildest Horror.

The shrieks of Raving Maniacs mingled with the Death Cry of Dying inmates.

Darkened Minds Lightened to Fury in the Glare of the Burning Prison.

Tongues of Fire.

PHILADELPHIA, February 13.—

Eighteen raving maniacs were burned to death in the insane department of the Blackley almshouse on the west side of the Schuylkill river to-night.

The conflagration is the most horrible event of the kind ever known in the history of the city. The fire originated in the wing of an old building of the insane department which fronts towards the river and directly east of the main building of the almshouse.

This wing is 145 feet front and sixty deep, and is connected on the south with the main building of the old structure of the insane department, which runs south 400 feet to a similar wing, and in which the fire occurred.

In this north building where the fire broke out, there were sixty separate cells for violent patients, twenty on each floor. In addition to this there was a large room on each of the floors in which cots for twelve men were placed, all of which were occupied when the fire broke out. On the second floor, opposite the central cell of the row of the separate cells in the north end of the corridor, which runs from east to west, was the dry room, heated by steam. The room, which was about ten feet square was directly alongside the middle stairway leading to the floors above and below. Here the flames originated but from what cause is not known. All the patients were assisted to the escape, but some of the violently insane patients, who could not be induced to leave their cells, which soon became so hot as to render it impossible for human aid to be of any avail. Eighteen lives are known to have been lost. The buildings at 1 a. m. are still in flames, and the flames have spread to the entire group of buildings making up the insane department. There are no prospects of saving any of them, although the firemen have the fire well in hand. All other department buildings are safe. The loss will probably amount to $150,000.

Samuel Aikens, a fireman belonging to engine No. 5 was struck by a falling skylight, which nearly severed his nose from his face. The wound and shock will probably prove fatal.

A rumor was prevalent at the almshouse grounds late to-night that some forty of the most violent patients were confined in the upper floor, all perished. This rumor could not be traced to any authentic source, and it is believed by the attendants questioned in reference to it that the patients on the upper floor escaped and can be accounted for in the morning, or as soon as the prevailing confusion and excitement subsides.

LATER DETAILS.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—The fire last night at the almshouse entirely destroyed that portion of the institution set apart for the insane. Of the 685 inmates confined there, many are missing, but it is thought most of them wandered away. At 9 o'clock this morning two more charred bodies were found in ward No. 2. They were burned beyond recognition.

Several human forms can be seen in the burning wreck in the cellar. It is thought that twenty-eight of the inmates perished. That number of violent patients being locked in the cells in the third floor and could not be reached. Eighty others have been taken out dead and others are unaccounted for. There seems to be no doubt that they are lost and their remains are among the ruins.

During the night many insane persons were found wandering in different parts of the city, some nearly naked. The poor creatures generally seemed unable to understand the situation and in some cases begged their captors pitiously not to throw them into the river. Others seemed to take it as a grand joke and laughed gleefully when the subject of the fire was mentioned. Another came flying down South street early this morning with a manacle attached to his wrist and a few links of a chain dangling from it. He shrieked and laughed as he struck right and left among the frightened people and it was found necessary to use violence and knock him down before he could be secured.

Another mad man caused a panic in a street car by rushing in half clad and with his face scorched and blackened, he sank cowering in the corner. It was soon found he was more frightened than those who ran away from him.

The report that the streets were full of escaped maniacs caused much alarm in West Philadelphia, and strangers looked upon each other with much distrust.

The firemen are still working the ruins. They are weary and half frozen, each man's helmet and coat appearing as hard as armor, but the search for bodies will be continued steadily. It appears there has been a great deal of unnecessary trouble caused by rotten hose and scarcity in the water supply. To remedy the latter failing a dozen firemen chopped a hole in the ice in Schuylkill river.

A Wife Held for Murder.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 13.—At the inquest on the body of Thomas Sweeney, who died yesterday from injuries said to have been inflicted by his wife, it was shown that death resulted from fracture of the skull and Mrs. Sweeney was committed to await the action of the district attorney.

The Usual Return.

MADRID, Feb. 13.—Earthquake shocks were felt to-day at Torre Del Campo, forty miles north of Granada. The hospital was seriously damaged.

Drift Ice in Long Island Sound.

NEW YORK, February 12.—Sound boats are all from two to three hours late this morning. One of the officers of the Massachusetts said: "We met a drift of ice when off Cornfield's shoals at the mouth of the Connecticut river, but was not impeded by it. Both shores of the sound are fringed with ice for two or three miles out from land, and from Hunting bay to Hellgate there is a solid mass of stationary ice."

Ice is heavier than for many years and should the cold weather continue a day or two longer, the sound will be completely sealed up as it is impossible for a sailing craft to make its way. Tug boats can only get through by following in the wake of steamers. The ice is packed more solidly together with every rising tide, and in many places young ice blocks from ten to fifteen feet high have formed.

Hunted on a Stretcher.—A Politician Stretched.

ALBION, Ill., February 12.—This afternoon fifteen men went out to the residence of state Senator Brown, the Republican, who is very ill and carried him into Grayville, a distance of six or seven miles on a stretcher. He will remain in Grayville to-night and tomorrow morning will leave for Springfield in a special car. He is very weak but his friends think he will stand the trip. He is paired with Senator Bridges till to-morrow and upon his presence to or his absence from the capitol, the election of a United States senator may depend. Without him the Republicans are one in minority on a joint ballot.

Readjusting Southern Freight Rates.

CHATTANOOGA, February 12.—The Southern Railway and Steamship association resumed its session this morning. During the preceding evening President Smith, of the Louisville & Nashville; Receiver Fink, of the East Tennessee and the Virginia & Georgia; General Manager Scott, of the Queen & Crescent; and General Manager Reeves, of the Richmond & Danville railroad companies, representing the lines most involved in the rate war, held a conference. They agreed upon a basis for adjustment, and to-day the association, by a unanimous vote, re-established the former pool agreement and all freight rates were restored to their former standard. The restored rates will go into effect the 18th inst. For four months the rates have been badly demoralized, throughout the south.

Protective Tariff.

NEW YORK, February 12.—The American Protective association met to-day. Henry T. Eckert, of Reading, Pa., presided. Among those present were: Thomas H. Dudley, of New Jersey; George Draper, of Milford, Mass.; M. M. Budlong, E. H. Ammidown, William Haight, George E. Sharpe, Leonard B. Cannon, D. V. R. Keim and E. M. and Henry I. Cooke.

The committee on permanent organization suggested that the name of the body be changed to the National Protective Tariff League. Agreed to. The committee appointed to act as an executive committee to report on the names of officers, suggested that Mr. Dudley be made vice president, to act as president until the latter officer was selected. A. B. Whitney, of New York, was made temporary treasurer. A nomination of three were appointed to draft an address to the public, setting forth the purposes of the league.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—A dispatch from Korti says: "Colonel Sir Redvers Buller will probably attack Metemneh next Sunday. The rebels are taking no aggressive steps."

The police have been authorized to watch and search, and if necessary, arrest persons visiting the new law court buildings and in all cases where the visitors are accorded permission to enter the house of commons they will be required to register their names and address and will be furnished with numbered tickets which will be charged up against their respective signatures.

THE CITY OF KHARTOUM.

MAP OF THE CITY AND SURROUNDINGS.

The city of Khartoum, toward which the eyes of the world have been and will be turned for some time to come, may be called the gate of Central Africa. European civilization enters at one side of the city and African barbarism comes in at the other. Beyond Khartoum from the north few tourists have ever made their way, and beyond Khartoum from the south few savages have ever ventured. From the south the Nubians send their stores of ebony, ostrich feathers, ivory, skins of animals and other products of the equatorial lake district, while from the north the trader carries grain, cotton, gum, "Bruumagum" knick-knacks and beads to feed and clothe the "savages" pointing in the line. Among the 30,000 who make up its population there are many Greeks and Italians, while two or three Americans furnish beads and other trumpery to the savages from Kordofan, El Oued and Darfour. The traders sell canned fruits, meats and vegetables and make the Dongolose bowl through the streets after taking some of their raki as a refreshment. Arabs in their bournaises, Turks in the traditional fez, Copts with their tushes, and Bihareen Arabs with their knotted and combined locks of hair, standing up like quills of the porcupine, wander through its irregular, narrow and badly drained streets. It is no wonder that Khartoum is unhealthy. When it rains, great pools of stagnant water are formed, and from these fozers are generated, and the deadly miasma does its work among the people.

VIEW OF THE CITY FROM THE HOSPITAL.

The street that borders the river side looks down upon the water from an elevation along which stand palm trees and large gardens of citrus and orange trees stand. Many neatly whitewashed buildings stand along the river bank, and these are relieved by the mounds and mounds which give the place the air of a city in upper Egypt. There are, of course, the characteristic houses, the tropical foliage, the broad palms and the waving domes, the bedchambers hauled on the beach for repairs, the sacks of gum, the tanks of ivory, and the storehouse population who have crocodiles for their paltry pawns.

The police of the governor is an ugly-looking building facing the river, and the helmeted and ensuaged negroes who form the guard of honor are dressed in white uniforms. There is a good deal of complex scumdrum in the city. It is the result of 50 years of the slave trade. This has attracted the worst class of the regiments who live on the Levant. For 400 miles south of Khartoum the white Nile is covered with rich cotton fields, which draw away from the banks of the river from five to 50 miles into the interior. The resources of the country are immense, and Khartoum is destined to play an important part in the development of the resources of Central Africa.

Small Battles Reported.

SUAKIM, Feb. 13.—Small parties of hostile Arabs have appeared to menace the garrison. A spy returned from Heishim place where a reconnoitring party of Hussars and Egyptians was attacked on the 3d inst. The Hussars got as far as Houdons without opposition, but having on their way out burned a native village without reason, they were attacked on the return at Heishim, which is about three miles from Houdons. The attacking party lay in ambush and the Arabs kept up a fire so terrible that the Hussars could not face it, and to save themselves from annihilation retreated at full gallop, in a circle, to Suakim. Eight Hussars and three Egyptians were lost.

Col. Freemantle, commanding at Suakim, in reporting the incident, stated that the officer in command of the Hussars had exceeded authority in ordering the burning of the Arab village. Spies at once were sent out to ascertain the fate of the missing troopers. The spy who returned could learn nothing but he found in the desert near the scene of the fight several articles of clothing which evidently belonged to the missing men. The spy brought these articles to Suakim, all pierced as if by spears. The spy reports he found the enemy encamped at Heishim.

The Daily Kentucky Tragedy.

SOMERSET, Ky., Feb. 13.—During a dance at A. J. Hansford's house, Wednesday night, at Barren Forks, Hansford shot and mortally wounded James Mahoney, who was just from his penitentiary for murder. Hansford claims it was done in self-defense.

The Deadly Work of Sewer Gas.

CHICAGO, February 12.—Five men were asphyxiated in a sewer late this afternoon. Several days ago the main sewer in Kinsey street, five feet in diameter, became clogged, and to-day a gang of men were sent to clean it. Nine went into the sewer with a scraper, dragging it from man-hole to man-hole, while the other two remained above the ground to draw up the mud and dirt through the man-hole. Between Halstead and Union streets an unusually long time was consumed. Finally the foreman, bending down at the mouth of a man-hole, heard a cry for aid, and going down found the men near the opening, some of them gasping for breath, others lying dead. There was a very strong smell of gas. A rope was passed down to him, as the survivors were unable to climb up the ladder. After two had been assisted up the foreman found himself failing from the effects of gas, and was obliged to go to the surface. Another man went down and rescued three and a third assisted the remaining four. Four were dead when brought up and another died soon afterward. The names of the dead are M. Laski, Joseph Gill, James Grady, Daniel Curtis and Matthew Mason. All were married, except Gill. The survivors say their first intimation that anything was wrong, was when Gill dropped dead. It is not known whether the gas in the sewer was an accumulation of ordinary sewer gas or illuminating gas from the leaking or what is known as fire-damp.

Theatrical People Get There, Etc.

CLEVELAND, February 11.—Last winter Jennie Lyman, a pretty, well educated and fashionable young lady of this city went to New York to study music. She met Max Rosenberg, a theatrical man, and after a short acquaintance married him. The ceremony was kept a secret sometime, but when the parents heard of it they brought her home and she mingled with friends again as Jennie Lyman. Several months ago she sued for a divorce and the knowledge of her marriage created a sensation. She alleged infidelity, ill-treatment and prodigal spending of her money. Henry McAllister, of Newark, N. J., was the first witness to be a great masher and that he married Miss Lyman for money. The witness also said Rosenberg frequented a house of ill repute at 102 West Twenty-sixth street, New York, after the marriage. F. A. Campbell, of New Britain, Conn., said he was hired to "shadow" Rosenberg by the attorneys of Mrs. Rosenberg. The deposition of William Stafford and other New Yorkers submitted to show that Rosenberg was immoral. The case was continued until to-morrow. Rosenberg is a theatrical agent and his present address is unknown.

Crushed to Death.

TOLEDO, February 12.—While a gang of men were engaged in removing a bank of earth in East Toledo, this morning, it caved in, burying and killing one of the workmen, Joseph Mahoney, and badly injuring Wm. Forman. Mahoney is fifty years of age, and leaves a wife and seven children.

A Pension Office Official Tells How Republicans were Favored in Indiana.

The Republicans Make a False Move in the Illinois Legislature in Nominating Logan.

Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—In the senate Davies, from the committee on appropriations, reported an Indian appropriation bill with amendments. Calendar.

Ingalls said he had observed in certain quarters a statement that Republicans in the senate were endeavoring so to direct legislation as to compel an extra session and he asked Allison, chairman of the appropriation committee, as to the condition of appropriation bills. Allison said the military academy bill was the only bill that had been signed by the president. The District of Columbia bill, and pension bill, and consular and diplomatic bill were now in conference of committees. The army bill passed the senate yesterday. The Indian bill had just been reported by the senate committee and would, he hoped be considered by the senate to-morrow. That there was left with the senate committee only the agricultural bill which would be ready for consideration Monday.

Other appropriation bills had not yet come to the senate from the house. The most of the senate committees was and would continue to be well in hand. If the house would take care of its bills, there will be no difficulty in the senate.

Beck said he had had many years experience in appropriation committees in both houses and he thought the work on appropriation bills in the house were better up than usual for a short session.

HOUSE.

The house met at 10 o'clock in continuation of Thursday's session.

On motion of Payson the senate amendments were concurred in to the house bill to prevent an unlawful occupation of public lands.

After a long discussion on the river and harbor bill the house adjourned for Friday's session.

NOTES.

At the meeting of the committee on payment of pensions, bounty and back pay to-day, Compler, the chief of the western division, testified that he was instructed during the recent campaign by Commissioner Dudley to extend to Grubbs, of Indiana, the same privilege accorded congressmen in preventing pensions. Grubbs was the republican candidate for congress from the Fifth district of that state and was the opponent of Representative Malson, the democratic candidate.

Judge Elliott's Slayer Dead.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 13.—Col. Thomas Buford, brother of General Abe Buford, and the slayer of Judge Elliott, of the court of appeals, died this morning at Anchorage, Ky., lunatic asylum after a long illness, of chronic disease. It will be remembered that Buford shot and killed Judge Elliott for rendering an adverse decision against Buford's sister in a case which involved considerable property. After a most sensational trial that has become celebrated, Buford was adjudged a lunatic and sent to the asylum from which place he escaped, going across the river to Indiana, where he lived about a year hunting and fishing.

Only seven years have elapsed since he killed Judge Elliott, but in that time Buford saw his family lose all their property and the trouble of his brother was undoubtedly the cause of the suicide of the noted turfman, Gen. Abe Buford, who killed himself last summer.

The Illinois Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 13.—In the senate this morning Senator Whitney placed General Logan in nomination for senator. The motion to proceed to ballot was defeated owing to the refusal of senator Rogers to vote. The republicans were surprised at this action. They claimed that Mr. Rogers promised to vote with them, they decided to bring up a motion for a ballot at noon. The senate decided to join the house in joint session and shortly afterward fifty senators joined the 144 representatives. Representative Parker nominated Gen. Logan and Mr. Linegar spoke for Colonel Morrison. He eulogized both as soldiers, but endorsed Morrison's tariff views.

Failures for the Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The failures last week as reported by R. G. Dunn, of mercantile agency, are for the United States, 239; Canada, 31; total, 270, as against 346 the previous week and 354 the week preceding. The large decrease is probably more apparent than real, as railroad and telegraph communication in the west and northwest is so interrupted that doubtless many failures in remote localities are not yet reported.

M. N. Jacobs, who recently came from Wabash, tells us that the Linn-McGuire shooting affray has developed into a political question. The democrats sympathize with the dead man and the republicans with Editor Linn.

A few evenings ago a couple of bloods ran a team of horses west on Berry to Calhoun street, where they were pitched out. The team stopped and the tipsy fellows were about to start off, when Justice Ryan interposed and sent the horses to Cosgrove's livery stable. Mr. Ryan did not propose to have the horses abused.

There was quite a police court this morning. James Armstrong, a discharged attache of Frank Cosgrove's livery stable, was locked up last night by Officer Humbrecht. He paid his fine. Bill Smithy and Henry Reed, run in by Officer Owens, went to jail for their spree as did two tramps run in by Marshal Myer.

In the bill of expense presented by Whitley county in the Butler murder trial, the Kosciusko county officials found an item of nearly $400, for expense incurred in the recapture of Butler after his celebrated escape. They refused to pay it on the ground that it was the fault of a Whitley county official that the culprit got away.

Yesterday being the anniversary of Miss Frankie Osborne's birthday, about twenty couples surprised her by making the occasion an excuse to pay her a visit at her residence, 157 West Superior street. Music, cards and dancing were the order of the evening. A sumptuous supper was served at 12 o'clock. Everybody had a good time and left wishing Miss Frankie many returns of her natal day.

Dan McHenry, the clever assistant city engineer, gives THE SENTINEL a few interesting figures. Last year 16,930 feet of rock sewer were built in this city at a cost to the property owners of $17,907.25. Of brick sewers 6,790 feet were built at a cost to the property owners of $20,802.39 and a cost to the city of $4,100.46. The brick sidewalks laid amounted to 27,365 feet, at a cost to property owners of $8,663.53.

H. B. Walder and brother have been granted permission to build a frame shop on lot 14, Peipenbrink's addition, to cost $200.

Ferd F. Boltz was the lucky holder of ticket No. 12, which drew the crazy quilt that was on exhibition in S. Chaska & Co.'s window.

Albert Nuttman, of Pittsburg, Kansas, will be married next week to Miss Laura Painter, of Tiffin, Ohio. The young man is a nephew of Mr. J. D. Nuttman of this city, and is well known here.

For some years the Lake Shore company has been suffering from the depredations of thieves at Elkhart. Detective Tom Doyle is at work there now and he hopes to capture the guilty ones.

The Ligonier Banner says: "The Jeffersonian club, of Fort Wayne, a campaign organization, has been made permanent, and will doubtless form a strong factor in the politics of that county."

Conductor Charley Carnahan, the Wabash spotter chetiser, did not resume his run on that road, but has accepted a passenger run on the Kankakee, and will commence to learn the road as soon as the blockade is removed.

The Little River ditch case is still on trial in the superior court before Judge Frazer. Dave Robinson was on the witness stand and described the proposed ditch in a scientific way. Dave is familiar with the country and gave some historical reminiscences.

The Huntington News says: "The Fort Wayne SENTINEL and Gazette rather get it on the other papers of that city by the cablegram venture, and denigrate them 'freight train papers.' It worries them to see these enterprising papers so far ahead. It is a slow coach now for them for sure."

The Ligonier Banner says: "Miss Carrie Weil, of Fort Wayne, is visiting friends in town. Miss W. is the affianced of our young friend Leo Lousier and we must say that we highly commend his taste as she is a beautiful and accomplished young lady and will be an ornament to our already splendid society upon her advent."

Last evening, Justices Daniel Ryan and Chester Scarlett and Dra. C. B. Stemen and M. F. Porter held an inquest in No. 181 Fairfield avenue. - M. J. Fogarty, the well known machinist, was the patient. In October last he was discharged from the Wabash machine shop, and this fact upset his reason. Miss Alice E. Oryles, an adopted daughter filed the complaint and Fogarty was adjudged insane.

The tax expert, Riley, a partner of Charley Fant, has been again heard from in Chicago, he having presented a communication to the city council complaining that the county clerk, the probate clerk and the recorder have refused to permit him to examine their records and that in consequence he was unable to carry out an alleged contract with the city for the ferreting out of omitted and sequestered taxable property.

Adjutant General Kountz has received a letter from J. Gaylor, assistant postmaster of New York, concerning an award in his possession, bearing the following inscription: "Presented to Lieutenant Henry, 85, Hull, Company A, Twenty-first Indiana Artillery, by the Members of his Company." It will be forwarded to the owner if alive, or otherwise to his family, if the proper address is furnished Mr. Gaylor through the adjutant general.

Northern Indiana will soon have another summer resort. The Nickel Plate railroad is arranging to erect a fine hotel on the shore of Hickman lake in Kosciusko county. The company will spare no expense to make it an attractive spot. We have many times wondered, says the Ligonier Banner, why it is that the people of Warsaw hide their light as they do. No town in the country has better natural advantages, but the people do not seem to appreciate their surroundings.

THE IMPEACHMENT.

The Defense in the Richards Case Strive to Give Davis Smith the Worst of It.

The state ceased the introduction of direct evidence in the Richards murder trial last evening, and the witnesses for Richards took the stand to-day. The import of their talk was to impeach the testimony of Davis Smith, who said he was with Richards when Backesto was murdered. Several men stated Smith was seen with two strangers on the night of the murder, but on a former trial their evidence was not credited. Sheriff I. A. Gorman, of Richmond, came here this morning with Mrs. Milton Locke, who is wanted as a witness. The state has new and startling disclosures to make and they will come to light early next week. Judge Edward O'Rourke presides at the trial with great care and dignity, so there is little chance for error to creep into the proceedings. The case will close about this time next week.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Pirates."

To-night one of the largest audiences ever assembled in Fort Wayne will greet homo talent in "The Pirates of Penzance." The performance, it is said, will rank equal to that of the majority of the traveling troupes which in time past have visited Fort Wayne.

JOE MURPHY.

At the Temple, next Wednesday night, the great Irish comedian Joe. Murphy appears in his play of "Shaun Rhue." The Boston Post says of it: "The patrons of the Howard were offered a play last evening in sharp contrast with the one presented them last week, which was a story of western life, full of startling incidents and exciting action."

This is the first entertainment transferred to the Temple by the Academy management.

MAT GOODWIN.

"Confusion" will be the last theatrical performance given at the Academy this season as the management have arranged for transferring all other troupes booked, to the Temple. This will leave the rink free to the skaters hereafter.

Sam Ford, a gay young traveling man from Richmond, is at the Robinson house. Sam is a practical joker, but last evening a lady at the Robinson house broke the young man's calculations very hard. He left his club roller skates in a nice satchel at the Robinson house. A lady friend displaced the rollers and put in their place a pair of skates hastily improvised from spools of thread. A potato and a parsnip were put in to make the weight. Mr. Ford hurried to the Academy last night, opened his hand bag with a good deal of eclat in the presence of a berry of pretty girls who were overcome with laughter at the sight. Mr. Ford vanished from the scene.

The Academy of Music skating rink was filled to its utmost capacity last night and the very best people in the city were in the assembly. Herbert Tomlinson, the Calhoun street photographer, won the 20-lap race and gold medal. His competitors were William Eckert, William Puroell, J. Adolphus Maier, William Fahling, Dan Campbell, Dave Eckert and Edwin Booth Colonel Scott Stanton. The best time was made as follows: Campbell, 4:22; Tomlinson, 4:11; Dave Eckert, 4:23. Henry J. Meyer was time keeper and Gus Rabus and M. J. Swain, judges. Mrs. Blanchestone gave a pretty exhibition of fancy skating and the pleasant festivities closed with a grand march. The Academy rink is the resort.

Grand Opening.

THE "SPOTTER" SPAT.

Another Wabash Conductor Does Up a Truth Agent.

Wabash conductors are inclined to follow Charley Carnahan's example. Yesterday morning Conductor Thomas Whalen, well known here, had an altercation with his spotter, one McGrath. McGrath went back to the rear of the train and returned with a revolver in his hand and blood in his eyes. He flourished the firearm and winked and blinked his eyes at a furious rate, gesticulating violently and giving it out good and solid that no conductor could come it over him. Whalen thinking his remarks personal took the revolver away from him and was proceeding to wipe the car-floor in the latest approved Carnahan style, when the passengers interfered and rescued the thoroughly frightened spotter. Whalen promptly telegraphed his resignation.

The Columbia City Post says: "The Wabash depot was the scene of a bloody fight on Monday night, engaged in which were three of Fort Wayne's hardest women and several young men of this place. The women undertook to run the depot by telling the agent he was not the marshal, and feared him not. The agent, after posing before them in the role of chief of police caused the three frail parties to desist. While the women were claiming the boys as nephews, cousins, uncles, etc., a general fight was going on on the outside between the relatives, and resulted in producing a bad looking wound on the face of one of the latter. No arrests."

The SENTINEL collectors will make their usual monthly visit to subscribers to-morrow when it is hoped all will respond promptly.

The very best remedy that can be compounded from our present knowledge of drugs, for colds, coughs, asthma, bronchitis and other lung diseases, is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It has cured many cases of consumption when all other remedies had failed. A single spoonful will cure an ordinary cough or cold and give instant relief to asthma. It is soothing, healing and strengthening to throat and lungs and is very pleasing to take.

We will be better prepared this evening and to-morrow than ever before to supply everybody with the best butter, freshest eggs, dressed poultry and meat to be found in the city. We make a specialty of these things and can always be relied upon for them.
